Voters To Ballot In Primaries

Hot Contests To Be Decided By Voters In Saturday Election

The campaign trail will come to an end for some candidates and become just the beginning for others as voters speak their minds in the Republican and Democratic primary elections Saturday.

Both primaries are the setting for some hotly contested races. Particular interest in the county has been focused on the county and local races.

The district races, too, with bevies of candidates have sparked voter interst.

Another race of interest is the contest between Houston businessman Lloyd Bentsen and incumbent Sen. Ralph Yarborough. The two are fighting it out in the Democratic primary for U.S. Senator.

Meanwhile, in the Republican race for U.S. Senator, another Houstonian George Bush will meet Robert Morris, president of Plano College.

But, a fight for the Republican nomination for governor has been stirred downstate as Paul Eggers, defeated in his gubernatorial attempt in 1968, tries to make a comeback. His primary opponent is Roger Martin.

Incumbent Ben Barnes runs unopposed in the lieutenant governor's race in the Democratic primary, while Byron Fullerton, an Austin attorney, runs unopposed for the seat in the Republican primary.

A race for the Democratic nomination for attorney general has shaped up with incumbent Crawford Martin meeting David Brown in the primary. Edward M. Yturri runs unopposed in the Republican primary for the office.

Another hot race has developed in the Democratic primary for the commissioner of the general land office. Incumbent Jerry Sadler, an often controversial figure, meets Fred Williams and Bob Armstrong in the bid. Harry Trippet is unopposed in the Republican primary for the office.

The Democrats see another contested race in the race for the seat of associate justice of the State Supreme Court. James G. Denton of Amarillo meets Hawthorne Phillips and Matt Davis in the primary.

The races get hot, though, in the campaign for state senator of the 31st district. Four Democratic candidates seek the party's nomination in the primary. They are Max Sherman. Nancy Moyer, Jack Hazlewood and Walter Knapp. Alone in the Republican race for the same office is veteran legislator Malouf Abraham.

Another race which has caught the voter's eye is for the seat of 181st District Court. On the Democratic primary ticket, Don M. Dean, current judge of the court, meets challenger J.M. "Jerry" Kolander, a veteran Amarillo attorney. Carroll Brown, currently Randall County Judge, seeks the nomination of the Republican Party in the same race.

LeRoy Hutton, county clerk, has been the man in the middle this week. Battling ballots, voting machines, candidates and two political parties, Hutton pauses to ask if it's all worth it. Hutton will get a real try-out Saturday night when ballots are counted.

The candidates, after three months on the political trail, will hear the voice of the voters as polls open for balloting in Randall County Saturday morning.

Both the Republican and Democratic primary elections have hotly contested state and local races.

The winners will square off party-to-party in the November general election.

LeRoy Hutton, Randall County clerk, reported Tuesday more than 300 persons had cast absentee ballots. On the strength of the absentees, Hutton predicted an average turnout for Saturday's election.

But, he predicted a strong swing to voting in the Republican Primary. Hutton said about 90 persons voted by absentee in the Republican primary this year, a record for the GOP here.

He said only three persons voted absentee in the Republican primary in 1966 and only 83 voted absentee in the 1968 general election.

Voters in both primaries in the county will use punch-card type voting in the elections. Following closing of the polls at 7 p.m. Saturday, the ballots will be rushed to the Killgore Research Center on the West Texas University campus where they will be run through the center's computers.

Hutton said he expects the counting to be completed by about 10:30 p.m. Saturday. The results will be reported in the Canyon Sunday News.

Throughout the election and counting process, representatives of Datamedia, the company which manufactures the punch-card voting equipment, will be on hand to make sure the operation runs smoothly.

Also to be observers of the elections will be representatives of Bexar County, British Columbia, and several Eastern cities. They will be flown here by Datamedia.

Area Party Polls Convention Sites

The polls in Randall County rural area and in Canyon will open at 8 a.m. Saturday for the Republican and Democrat primary elections.

Polls in the city limits of Amarillo open at 7 a.m. All polls will close at 7 p.m.

LeRoy Hutton, county clerk, said precinct conventions for both parties will be held this year at the precinct polling place.

Republican precinct conventions begin at 7:15 p.m. Saturday and Democrat precinct conventions begin at 7:30 p.m.

Commission Lowers Tax For Second Year In Row

For the second consecutive year Randall County commissioners have lowered taxes.

Commissioners lowered the rate to $1.05 per $100 assessed valuation. The rate in 1969 was $1.22 per $100 valuation.

Commissioner Clarence Beckman abstained from voting because he had wanted to lower the rate to $1.00.

At one point during the discussion Randall County Criminal District Attorney George Dowlen was brought into the commissioners chamber to read some law on the matter.

"I'll give you some odds that nobody ever goes to jail for lowering taxes," quipped Beckman.

The court dropped the rate a hefty 23 cents last year, lowering it from $1.45.

Beckman pointed out that the county had a balance of $130,264.57 on hand as of Dec. 31, 1969, a gain of about $100,000 over the balance at the same date the previous year.

The county's estimated valuation for 1970 is $56,059,830, according to County Tax Assessor-Collector Audrey Bruse.

Sheriff L.S. "Slim" Johnston was authorized to advertise for bids for a tower and equipment for a new radio base station for his department.

The present sheriff's department radio facility was installed in 1954. The sheriff told the court that the outlay on suggested communications improvement will be about $5,000.

He has suggested that a new radio tower and antenna be placed atop the old court house building and that transmitting equipment be housed in the court house.

Presently the antenna is atop the city water tower and the transmitting equipment is located in Canyon fire station. The equipment is connected to the sheriff's office by leased telephone lines.

Sheriff Johnston said moving the equipment and antenna to the court house will improve the department's communications system.

The sheriff also asked for two monitoring units with which to monitor Amarillo police department transmissions.

Commissioners were requested to increase the county's contribution to the

Regents To View Budget, Contracts

West Texas State University's Board of Regents meet at 9 a.m. Friday to consider approval of the annual budget, the letting of construction contracts and sale of bonds.

The regents will meet in the new Activities Center on campus.

They are to consider approval of the annual operating budget of $10,638,390 for the fiscal year beginning Sept. 1.

The regents are also to consider authorizing the issuance of bonds totalling $3,250,000 for the construction of two dormitories and an addition to the university's east dining hall.

Bids for the construction were received Tuesday. Apparent low bidder was Panhandle Engineers and Contractors for $3,345,000.

The dorms are to house about 500 students. They are expected to be completed in about two years. The dining hall addition will provide dining facilities for almost 1,000 students.

The regents are expected to inspect the new Activities Center on campus and if found acceptable, final payments to the Amarillo contractors and the architect.

Western Builders of Amarillo were contractors for the building and Hucker and Parge of Amarillo were architects.

The $3.3 million center is to be the site this weekend for formal dedication ceremonies. A formal reception is to be held there tonight.

The regents will be asked to contract with Panhandle Engineers and Contractors of Amarillo for the renovation of the education building. The firm bid $248,570 for the construction. Renovation began in mid-April and is to be completed by Aug. 14.

The board is also to be asked to enter into agreement with the Department of Housing and Urban Development for a grant of $55,800 to help finance aspects of the new dormitories and dining hall addition.

Dedication Set For WT Center

Formal dedication for West Texas State University's new Activities Center, a $3.3 million all-purpose recreational and educational facility, will be Saturday.

The center will be the site of a formal reception from 7:30-10 p.m. today in the main foyer of the building.

Members of the Board of Regents, Amarillo Area Foundation directors, student organization presidents, WTSU administrators and faculty and area educators were invited.

Open house for the public will be from 2-5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

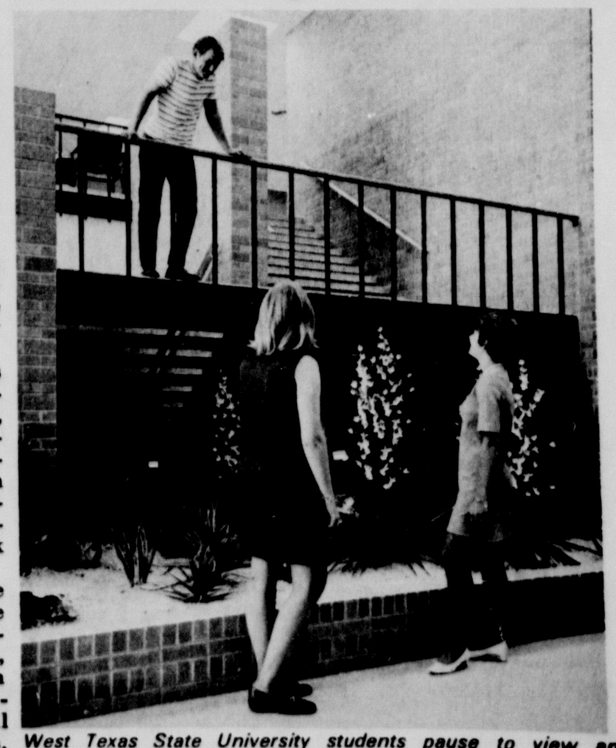
Dr. James P. Cornette, university president, will lead the dedicatory ceremony at 2 p.m. Saturday.

The center, which is on the northeast portion of the campus, includes every recreational facility imaginable. Across from the building are recently completed tennis courts and track facilities.

Located inside the monstrous structure are classrooms, a ballroom, reading rooms, a snack bar, an olympic-sized swimming pool, handball courts, tennis courts, basketball courts, billiard facilities, weight rooms, game rooms, and bowling alleys.

The students themselves sparked the initial idea of the building, when they presented a plan to Virgil Henson, financial vice president.

The students wrote their board of regents seeking a fee increase to support costs of the building.



West Texas State University students pause to view an attractive garden display in the main foyer of the new Activities Center. The display is located near the main entrance of the building.

Governor Boosts State During TCT Conference

Texas is number one in industrial development in the nation primarily because of good economic climate created through the efforts of local communities and the state government, Gov. Preston Smith told about 300 officials at a conference here Wednesday.

"This didn't just happen," the governor said. "It came about because of the work done through the years with community leaders such as yourselves."

Smith addressed morning sessions on his Texas Communities Tomorrow program, which was devised to provide better communication and more varied services for smaller communities.

Texas Communities Tomorrow is a coordinating unit between the state and the local governments, Smith said.

The program is designed basically to accomplish five goals--provide knowledgeable listening post in the governor's office; secure cooperation of state agencies to the end that mere listening could be translated into action; inform as many people as could of the arrangement; work out orderly system of communication between community and state; to maintain in the governor's office a small coordinating unit which could be a contact point between the public and the state.

The program he said, allows small communities to ask questions, receive answers and receive help in implementing various solutions to local problems.

Smith was keynote speaker at the conference, which also featured six representatives from various governmental units. Each represen-

WT Officers Elected During Balloting

West Texas State University students went to the polls Tuesday, elected Gary Storey as their president and answered nine questions listed on the ballot.

Storey, who this year headed up the Student Senate, received about 58 per cent of the vote in beating his opponent, David Needham.

Jim Edd Wines, also a student senator, was elected vice president. He received 44 per cent of the vote compared to 34 per cent received by Van Perry and 21 per cent by Ronnie Miller.

New secretary is Deborah Hazlewood. She beat Connie Cope and Patsy Landon.

The nine questions on the ballot were designed as a poll for student opinion on various issues.

Those voting answered yes on the poll that their instructors have freedom to teach what and how he wants; yes, they feel their voice will be heard if they dissent from policies of the university; yes, they would be willing for the Student Senate to allocate funds for a professional evaluation of the WTSU library; no, they do not feel racial discrimination exists among students at WTSU; yes, they think the student newspaper serves the need of the student community; yes, they think an independently controlled teacher evaluation poll should be initiated; yes, they think WTSU puts too much emphasis on athletics; yes, they feel the Student Union

FROM THE CANYON RIM

If service to his community and area means anything, Jerry Kolander will get the nomination for judge of the 181st District Court Saturday.

I think one of the big things, other than actual experience on the bench, to recommend Jerry is his work with the youth of this area.

Between Jerry Kolander and the youth of the area there is no generation gap.

Jerry is a past board member of the Children's Psychiatric Center in Amarillo and whether their children have ever used it or not every parent in the Panhandle owes him a debt of gratitude because his labor has made it available when and if needed.

It is available only because of the unselfish efforts of people like Jerry.

Jerry served as a member of the board for Amarillo Big Brothers. This is an organization formed to supply love and understanding to fatherless little boys.

And where children are concerned, Jerry Kolander's bank account of love will never be overdrawn.

Time a lot of men would have spent pursuing their own pleasures, Jerry has spent with the community's youth. He has coached Kids, Inc., basketball and softball, YMCA baseball and served as chairman of the Amarillo American Legion Junior Baseball program.

The Amarillo YMCA "Y" Mens Club honored him with the community award for service to youth.

Jerry was appointed by Governor Connally to the Texas Youth Council which administers state institutions for delinquent and dependent and neglected children.

Jerry didn't just develop an interest in youth when he decided to run for office.

"Jerry is the guy who used to cover our football games back in the late 1940s," a prominent former citizen of Happy remarked to me only this week.

Jerry Kolander has done his share of civic work. He is a past president of the Potter-Randall Citizens Committee, past director of Amarillo United Fund and currently is on the board of the American Business Club.

During all this time he has been one of the outstanding attorneys of Amarillo. He was assistant attorney for Potter County, Potter County attorney, judge of the Potter County Court of Domestic Relations and is a successful practicing lawyer.

He served as a Navy officer in the Pacific during World War II and has shown his concern for the safety of his country by remaining in the Naval Reserve over the years.

He presently holds the rank of captain which is equivalent to that of full colonel in the army.

Proof that he is held in esteem by members of his profession is the fact that he is president elect of the Amarillo Bar Association.

Judge Kolander's experience, knowledge and devotion to his community and country add up to credentials which simply cannot be matched by anyone else seeking the 181st District judgeship.

And this is not meant to belittle anyone. Few men attain such stature even in the course of a long and useful lifetime.

I hope the voters of Potter and Randall Counties will ponder these qualifications Saturday.

The people of the 181st Judicial District—especially the youth with whom he has such a tremendous rapport—need him on the bench.

Our World

BY ANN BROWN

The one ailment more common in America than the common cold is headache. Aspirin, and its derivatives, is a multi-billion dollar business because Americans have developed the habit of popping pills into their mouths instead of eliminating the causes of their headaches. Is it surprising that adolescents from such homes should also expect pills to eliminate their problems?

Because aspirins are considered a household necessity,and kept within arm's reach in the average American home, they are a leading cause of poison deaths among young children.

As a rule, a headache has one of three causes--or a combination of the three. It may be caused by excessive fatigue or insufficient sleep, lack of food, or eye trouble.

A little introspection should reveal the cause of an ordinary headache; if not, some trial-and-error treatment probably will. If a good meal and a nap, or a good night's sleep, does not eliminate a headache, perhaps prescriptive eye shades, corrective lenses, or an adjustment of one's glasses is needed.

Excessive glare and eye strain almost always produce headache. One can seldom read with a direct light shining on the reading material, or spend much time out in the bright sunlight with eyes unprotected without eye strain.

Taking a painkiller without eliminating the cause is inviting chronic headache and damage to one's system in addition to the various side effects the medicine may produce.

Anyone who eliminates his eye problems, gets adequate nourishment, sufficient sleep and proper exercise, and still has headaches should see his family doctor. Migraines may not yield to good living habits alone,and certainly any obstruction or malfunction within the head will not.

The human body has a marvelous capacity to heal itself. However, it is potentially dangerous to mask any organic problem with a sedative. Almost all medicines contain some harmful elements; it is seldom wise to take them except as prescribed or approved by the family physician.

Even if the medicine is harmless, it may conceal the very problem the pain indicates. Several years ago the mother of 7 small children was involved in a car-train collision. More than a year after apparently recovering from serious injuries, she began to complain of headaches and general discomfort.

Her symptoms appeared rather vague and not too serious. Aspirin kept her her reasonably comfortable. When the doctor decided her problem was all in her mind she was given electro-shock treatment.

Eventually, at Mayo Clinic, a cancerous condition was discovered in an old bruise in the flesh of her back. The precious time lost under sedation, and psychiatric treatment, made the difference between life and death.

Had Nature's warning pain not been ignored, 7 little children would not have had to grow up without a mother.

Headaches, like fevers, are usually danger signals; they are more likely to be symptoms than diseases. It is about as wise to attempt to cure a headache with a painkiller as it is to ignore two flashing red traffic signals at a busy intersection.

It seems fairly obvious that the greater furor adults raise over drug abuse among adolescents the more it increases. Drug abuse like headache is not the problem; it is a symptom.

What undurable problems do our children have? And why are they seeking an escape through drugs?

Has too much permissiveness made this generation incapable of coping with frustration? Has a lack of respect for the eternal verities deprived them of meaning in life? Is it boredom? Not enough work? Too much money? Bad example of parents? Lack of respect for adults in general? Or some combination of these?

Should we not give some attention to the problems instead of concentrating our energies on the symptoms if we expect to eliminate this cancerous condition from our society?

Bids Opened For Dorms

Panhandle Engineers and Contractors of Amarillo was apparent low bidder for construction of two new dormitories and addition to a dining hall at West Texas State University.

Bids were opened Tuesday afternoon in the office of Virgil Henson, WTSU financial vice president.

Henson said alternate bids must be considered and all bids presented to the WTSU Board of Regents before contract is awarded. The regents meet on campus Friday.

Panhandle Engineers bid $3,345,000.

Other bidders and their bids were:

BFW Construction Co. of Temple, $3,589,000; Paige and Wirtz of Amarillo, $3,445,176; Ramey Construction of Amarillo, $3,433,000; Western Builders of Amarillo, $3,354,000.

The two high-rise dorms are expected to take about two years for completion.

Hopefuls List Costs

Leading spender in Randall County politics so far is Joseph Schley, Republican candidate for county judge, according to expense lists filed with County Clerk Leroy Hutton.

Schley lists expenditures of $2,263.41 and gifts of $1,720.

His opponent in the Republican Primary, J. Ernest Stroud, lists expenditures of $954.91 and gifts of $633.40.

Filing procedure was not uniform among the candidates. Some listed filing fees while others did not.

The race for judge seems to be by far the most expensive, according to the expense accounts filed. Woody Pond with no opponent in the Democratic primary lists expenses of $1,517.17 and gifts of only $177.50.

His out of pocket expense would appear to exceed that of Schley.

Ruth Hill, Democratic candidate for county treasurer, lists expenses of $767. Margaret Trautmann, GOP candidate for the same offfice, says she has spent $206.28 and has received $300 in gifts.

In the race for GOP nomination for county commissioner of Precinct 2 John Fulgenzi says he has spent $124.97 and received $68.77 in gifts; Neil Braboy shows expenses of $385.10 and gifts of $310; and Wayne Barfield shows expenses of $140.65 and gifts totaling $50.

In the campaign for Republican nomination for commissioner of Precinct 4 Hubert Clark shows expenses of $233.35 and a gift of $50. Bill Butler lists expenses of $500 and gifts totaling $350.

George Dowlen, Democratic candidate for district attorney, lists expenses totaling $1,045 and W. A. "Bill" Wilson, running for justice of the peace, says he has spent $744.24.

Several unopposed candidates filed no expense and gift affadavit since it is not mandatory for them under the law.

Viet Veteran Trained In Asia For Career

The training ground for most careers in college. For Herbert Williamson's career it was Vietnam.

Williamson, a veteran of two tours in Vietnam, plans to be a career Army officer.

And it is toward that aim he has been working since graduating from high school.

He says he went to Vietnam as an enlisted man to gain experience he could call upon as an officer. He believes an army is for combat. And, that's apparently what he wants to do.

Williamson is currently a junior student in the Reserve Officer Training Corps at West Texas State University.

He hopes to receive a commission as a second lieutenant by May of 1971.

Williamson started college in 1964 at the University of Texas at El Paso. While at UTEP, he was in ROTC.

Right after graduating from high school, Williamson joined the National Guard, but he remained in the Guard only two years.

Then, in June of 1965, he joined the Army and was assigned to infantry.

It was where he wanted to be.

As soon as he could, he signed up for a tour to Vietnam. He stayed there 12 months as a security guard.

After rotation back to the States, he signed up for another tour, this time as an instructor to Republic of Vietnam troops.

Williamson's joining with the Army, his tours in Vietnam--all were designed to add to his planned career.

When he was at UTEP, he said, he planned to join the Army just to learn what he might need to know later as an officer.

But, this wasn't the only reason he wanted to go to Vietnam

"It was intersting," he said. "You make more money, it is something to do and I didn't want to stay around the States."

While in Vietnam, he did learn. He learned something of the war.

"Nobody likes it," he said, mainly because the soldiers there are unable to win the war.

"You go out looking for the enemy. You find him, You lose some people. You come back, and the next day it's the same thing," he said. "You're not gaining anything. It's not a popular war with the troops."

Nevertheless, the war is where Williamson wants to be.

"I can't see selling insurance or something like that," he said. "All that is mickey mouse by comparison."

When Williams graduates from WTSU in 1971, he wants to be commissioned in the infantry branch, a branch which is not popular with many ROTC cadets.

Herbert Williamson, a two-tour veteran of Vietnam, inspects weapons in the ROTC arms room at West Texas State University.

Williamson hopes to receive a commission as a second lieutenant in infantry when he graduates in 1971.

Buffalo Lake Won't Be Treated For Carp

Buffalo Lake will not be treated for removal of carp this spring, it was announced Wednesday by Refuge Manager Paul Ferguson.

Ferguson said the decision was made by the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife on the basis of four factors.

One, the lake water quality is much below standards required for a healthy sport fish population. Two, some interim fishing can be provided for fisherman. Three, a 100 per cent fish kill is not thought possible and carp reinfestation would occur. Four, personnel involved with the study needed additional time to come up with a management program.

Ferguson said the lake is open to the public for boating, skiing, picnicking, camping, hiking and fishing.

Only fish available in the lake are bullhead and carp.

Visitors to the lake must pay a fee of $1 per carload or 50 cents per person.

Sixth Grade Students Conduct 'Drug' Study

Last week sixth grade students at Rex Reeves Elementary School had their own form of indepth study concerning the impact of drugs.

Following the study which included lectures, films and discussions the students wrote their own unsigned opinions on the question: "When the opportunity comes for you to experiment with, try-out or use drugs in any form--what are you going to do about it?"

In their answers students summarized that they would have no question in their minds but to say No. They also agreed that the pusher would be reported to their parents, and the police.

A few of their written essays follow:

I'm not going to take or have anything to do with the drugs of people giving me the opportunity. First of all, the drugs are harmful and would ruin my life. Second of all, I would hurt all of my teachers, my church and my parents. What's the use? I would also tell the police about the people who gave it to me because they must be stopped. If the United States is going to keep up its strong reputation as a great country, we can't have people "high" on drugs. What a FLOP this country would be!

When I am faced with the problem of "using" drugs there will be no question in my mind as to what to do. Refuse to use them. This year in the 6th grade has made me very much aware of the things that drugs can do. They can do anything to you from hardly effecting you to killing you.

When you are on drugs there is no telling what you might do. To keep out of trouble the best thing you could do is never start on drugs.

If I had taken drugs, unawaringly, as soon as I found out about it I would tell my parents so they could get some help. But I hope it never happens to me or anyone else in this year's 6th grade or any one else. That hasn't started.

* * *

If anyone came up to me and offered me some drugs I would say no. Because now that I know how drugs can harm your body, I would like to live a good life and not go through pain as other people who have taken drugs have lived. Too I would like to be a person who can teach children about drugs so they will not use drugs.

* * *

If I was faced with this problem, I would just say no thank you. But if they called me a chicken or a coward I would not care, they could call me anything they wanted that would not change my mind. I would not want to be a vegetable the rest of my life or be in a mental hospital. I would just say no thank you.

* * *

If I were offered drugs of any kind by anyone I would not take them. I wouldn't take them because I know what they can do to me, or any other person. I just haven't heard stories about them I have also read true facts of what just a tiny pill can do to you.

If someone were to offer me drugs I would say that I've learned about drugs I know the dangers of them. Maybe if he were on drugs I could get him off of them by telling him what I know and what I've learned about drugs.

running in each primary. Incumbent George Dowlen is alone in his bid in the Democratic Party and Rhett Plank, a local attorney, is running solo in the GOP primary.

One race which most county voters are watching closely is that for Randall County Judge. Amarillo Mayor J. Ernest Stroud, who pulled a political surprise when he announced his candidacy in January, meets former Amarillo Corporation Court Judge Joseph H. Schley in the Republican primary. The winner will face Woody Pond, county juvenile officer, who is running alone in the Democratic primary for county judge.

Mrs. Mavis Hill is unopposed in the Democratic primary for district clerk, as is LeRoy Hutton in his bid in the GOP primary for county clerk.

But, another race will shape up in November as a result of the primaries in the county treasurer race. Margaret Trautman seeks the Republican nomination unopposed and incumbent Ruth A. Hill seeks the Democratic nomination unopposed.

At the county level is where the races become heated. In many county races in the Republican primary, there is more than one candidate.

In the running form in the GOP primary for county commissioner of precinct 2 are John A. Fulgenzi, an Amarillo engineer, Neil S. Braboy, an Amarillo businessman, and Wayne Barfield, an Amarillo attorney.

Oth Miller, an Amarillo attorney, seeks the commissioner seat unopposed in the Democratic primary.

Although the Democrats don't have a candidate for county commissioner, precinct 4, the Republicans have two of their own to choose from. Incumbent Bill Butler will meet Hubert L. Clark in the Saturday primary.

Three persons spar for the post of Democratic County Chairman in the election. They are Robert Green, Carol R. Crain and Marion Bruce.

Two seek the Republican County Chairmanship--incumbent Dick Brooks and Thomas D. Ritchey.

On the precinct level in the Republican primary, almost every chairman race is opposed. Just two such races in the Democratic primary are opposed.

Weyman Brown meets W.E. Lee in the race for chairman of GOP precinct 5. Larry Hooper meets Lester Smith in the test for chairman of GOP precinct 6.

Fletcher Sims and Jimmy Killingsworth vie for the chair of precinct 7 in the Republican primary. John L. Plank runs unopposed in precinct 8. Roy Davis and Ocie Towery are vieing for the chair of GOP precinct 9. Terry Thomas is alone in his bid for the chair of precinct 10, as is R.A. Bridges in precinct 11.

For the chairmanship of GOP president 12, Carroll Gustin and Mary Grace Parkinson will meet in the primary. Margaret Head is unopposed in her bid for chairman of precinct 13. Peggy Collins and Frieda Anderson will battle it out for the chair of precinct 14.

Warren Marshall is unopposed in 15, but Ralph Bruse and Ralph Cooley meet in 16.

In 17, it will be Art Vaughn and W.A. Meyers. Elizabeth Nussbaum is unopposed in 18. Jerry Dean and Art Garner meet in 19, Brooks Wilson and M.B. Garlow meet in 20 and William Engle and Roland Chadwell meet in 21.

On the Democratic side in the precinct elections, the only opposed races are in precincts 7 and 13. In 7, A.W. Lair will vie against W.B. Harris, and in 13, J.B. Bechtold meets Donald Elwell.

Other candidates for Democratic precinct chairs are Melvin Schaeffer, 1; R.B. Gist, 2; W.P. Janssen, 4; Christler Crain, 6; Mrs. Max Rarick, 8; Cecil Simms, 9; Mary Miner, 12; Robert Skinner, 14; Earl O'Keefe,15; T.A. Serrurer, 16; Dwaine Mires, 17; U.G. Gerry, 18; Mrs. Joy Watson, 19; B.G. Milogard® is for Milo

Milogard herbicide controls weeds in sorghum. Weeds that steal moisture and fertilizer and reduce yields.

One spray—at planting, or before weeds or milo come up—controls most weeds all season.

Use Milogard this year. It's a great labor saver.
